INFORMED CONSENT

In a doctor-patient relationship it is deemed necessary and ethically correct for the patient to play an informed and active role in invasive diagnostic examinations and treatments to which he or she submits voluntarily.

Hence, this document provides the information, and the doctor who presents and explains it to you will provide the extensive and clear information required to understand it, ensuring that you have clearly understood the contents submitted to your attention below, which require your final signature.

It is important for you to deem the information provided as exhaustive and clear and, particularly, for you to have clearly understood the procedure proposed for an appropriate therapeutic treatment. The benefits of the procedure that will be performed, the possible risks and any alternatives will be explained to you, so that you can make a voluntary and, therefore, an informed decision in this regard. Hence you are also given written information that is as detailed and as complete as possible, to ensure that the explanation is both comprehensible and exhaustive. If you deem it necessary, do not hesitate to request further information which you might consider useful to clear any doubts or to clarify any parts of the explanation that you did not fully understand. Hence, we invite you, before you give your written consent by signing this form, to clarify with the doctor who explains it to you, every aspect you have not fully understood.

I, the undersigned, _____ confirm that today I had an informative interview with Dr.

_____ who explained that due to my disease,

DIAGNOSIS

it is necessary/appropriate to perform the following invasive procedure:

- Rectoscopy Rectal sigmoidoscopy
- I, the undersigned, consent to a endoscopic polypectomy
- I, the undersigned, do not consent to an endoscopic polypectomy

In this regard I have been exhaustively and comprehensibly informed about:

- my diagnosis resulting from the visit and/or examination;
- the most appropriate treatment, schedule and implementation methods;
- the potential benefits of the treatment;
- the possible complications, risks and related additional medical procedures;
- the possibility of failure;
- the particular risks related to my case;
- the discomfort that might arise after the treatment;
- the timeline and methods of recovery;
- the alternative therapeutic options to the diagnostic/therapeutic treatment proposed to me;
- including refusal to accept treatment and the related risks;
- the instruments required.

I also confirm:

- that I have had the opportunity to ask questions about the treatment proposed, and that the doctor was willing to provide any further clarifications I might require;

- that I am aware of the possibility of having to sign a new form, if the treatment is divided into various appointments, depending on which hazards might arise for my health;
- that I have been informed about the option of withdrawing my consent, if I do not want to continue the treatment;
- that I am aware of the fact that when changes are required to the already agreed procedures, I will have to express my consent once again;
- that I have understood that, if required, a change in the surgical strategy that cannot be foreseen at this moment might be necessary during surgery.

Hence, I freely provide my informed consent to submit to the recommended treatment, having received the information required to evaluate its feasibility.
